1.4.464
a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant Theodore Cottingham, December 16, 2006 1:52am
www.unc.bz

1. This is the beginning of something new, lovely. Who will believe me/my report, becoming it, lovely, new? I am/will/have, do this minute, moment; and who can still the raging waters/seas? I love/can you. I am you. Your life mine. In me I am. My life is my body/in my body. See the formation canned not but let loose, not, entered into forming formation of only me now, my seed matured/complete. Nurturing othering, redeeming others far and wide now. Now. Now!

2. Who careth for my words/wordship? Revealeth me? Wanteth me? Entereth. Wanting me, enter. Wanting my words, write me/to me. Let me write to me, instructing my me, giving you me, nurturing, redeemers becoming me, redeeming others now/then/now. I love you.

3. This is the me now, the now me'd, me now'd. And exclaiming/exclamatory I Am'img my people, not timidly; screamingly not but courage required, substantively so. I am the righteous judge not; meek judge righteous'd not; meek and righteous, righteous and meek, meekness and righteousness going hand in hand, not; being it/one. My kind/element, my life'ness real. Meek'd, all enter/entering. See. Become.

I love/am you